BRICK CITY

Director: Mark Benjamin and Marc Levin

Brick City is the provocative and eye-opening documentary series that fans out around the city of Newark, New Jersey to capture the daily drama of a community striving to become a better, safer, stronger place to live.

Against great odds, Newark's citizens and its Mayor, Cory Booker, fight to raise the city out of a half century of violence, poverty and corruption. Booker, an outspoken and charismatic mayor who many compare to Barack Obama, works with Police Director Garry McCarthy, youth mentors, Blood and Crip gang members and other citizens on the front line to bring peace and prosperity to their once-proud city.

Bringing to life the true challenges and adventures of social transformation and urban renewal, Brick City goes from City Hall to the street to create a vivid portrait of a city at a critical moment in history.

AGEING

CARING FOR THE FRAIL AND IMMOBILE

As we age we notice the physical symptoms and effects in all stages of life, but for most people, they become most pronounced in the senior years. Often one or more of the senses are affected – particularly vision and hearing. For some, mobility and the range of physical movements decline, and aids for walking and other movement may become necessary. Mental health can also decline in some people as they age.

This program explores a range of areas relating to caring for frail and immobile people. Its thrust is largely about encouraging older people to use their existing capacities to the maximum extent, in order to remain as physically and mentally active as possible.

Areas examined in the program include ageing gracefully, the physiological changes that occur with ageing, common pathologies relating to older people, and creating a physical activity program.

Expert comments from Professor Peter Hunter, Director of Aged Care and Rehabilitation with Alfred Health and Caulfield Hospital, appear throughout the program.

This program is an excellent learning resource for students undertaking certificated or degree courses in areas such as aged care and nursing. It also serves as a useful professional development resource for health professionals working in any areas that involve interaction with, or care for, older people.

Chapters:

- 1. Ageing Gracefully
- 2. Ageing: The Physiological Changes
- 3. Common Pathologies
- 4. Creating a Program
- 5. Conclusion

PREVENTING FALLS IN AGED CARE

In caring for the elderly – be it in community-based care or within a residential aged care facility – falls prevention is critical.

Elderly people are often vulnerable to falls for a variety of reasons – it could be related to infirmness, compromised vision, slippery surfaces, ill-fitting footwear, lack of necessary physical support, being affected by medication, or a number of other factors. Furthermore, the physical injury that can occur with falls is generally exacerbated by age, and recovery times can be much longer compared with those for younger people who experience similar incidents.

Knowing how to minimise the risk of falls is essential for any carer or other professional working in aged care.

Chapters:

- 1. Introduction
- 2. What is a Fall
- 3. Identifying Risk Factors
- 4. Falls Prevention Programs (Part I): Identifying and Assessment
- 5. Falls Prevention Programs (Part II): Implementation and Risk Control
- 6. Conclusion

AGING

OLD JEWS TELLING JOKES

Director: Sam Hoffman

Just what it's called: old Jews telling jokes. The 18 joke tellers featured aren't professionals; rather they're doctors, lawyers, a garment worker, a wine salesman – just like your favorite Jewish uncle or grandparent. With wonderful timing and mannerisms, and bouncy klezmer music backing them up, these funny old alter kockers deliver, with great delight, the off-color and risqué jokes from a bygone era.

Reviews

- "A little bit Woody Allen, a little bit Catskills, and a little bit Rob Reiner's mother in the When Harry Met Sally deli scene. And it's pretty much guaranteed to make you happy!" - Elizabeth Bougerol, NBC New York
- "As simple as it is brilliant!" - Jay Firestone, Jewish Journal

ANTHROPOLOGY

DEFAMATION

Director: Yoav Shamir

Is anti-Semitism an immediate threat on the verge of coalescing into a second Holocaust? Or is it a scare tactic used by right-wing Zionists to discredit their critics? Speaking with the head of the Anti-Defamation League, controversial author Norman Finkelstein, and others, Yoav Shamir sets out to discover the realities of anti-Semitism today. His findings are both shocking and wryly funny.

Review

- "Soul searching...(Yoav Shamir is) dazzlingly skilled at capturing characters in humorous and emotional situations that allow viewers to reach their own conclusions." – Bernard Dichek, The Jerusalem Report

BIOGRAPHIES / PROFILES

BLOOD SWEAT & GEARS

Director: Nick Davis

Blood Sweat & Gears is the inspirational story of America's only ProTour cycling team, a team devoted not only to cleaning up the sport of cycling but to winning the Tour de France.

Setting off from the frozen roads of a Colorado winter, racing over the dangerous cobblestones of the Spring classic Paris-Roubaix, and finally arriving to the Champs-Elysees, the grand Parisian boulevard which marks the end of the Tour de France, this riveting, eye-opening documentary takes viewers on an incredible emotional journey, following the ups and downs of underdog cycling team as they try, against all odds, to ride triumphantly into Paris.

From the intensive daily training required to compete at the highest level to the glory of winning races against the world's best pro riders, Blood Sweat & Gears captures the passion and suffering of this simultaneously brutal and beautiful sport.

CAPTURING REALITY: THE ART OF DOCUMENTARY

Director: Pepita Ferrari

From cinema-verite pioneers Albert Maysles and Joan Churchill to maverick moviemakers like Errol Morris, Werner Herzog and Nick Broomfield, the world's best documentarians reflect upon the unique power of their genre in this comprehensive and eye-opening two-disc box set.

Featuring interviews with 38 directors and 163 film clips from classics such as Grey Gardens and The Thin Blue Line, as well as recent work like Darwin's Nightmare and Touching the Void, Capturing Reality explores the complex creative process that goes into making non-fiction films. Deftly charting the documentarian's journey, it poses the question: can film capture reality?

Reviews

- "A fascinating and authoritative record...like a who's who of the documentary world." - International Documentary Film Festival Amsterdam
- "Featuring 38 of the greatest names in documentary talking about every aspect of their creative process, it has great value as an education tool — and as a validation for why we do this in the first place." - Thomas White, Documentary.org

MEREDITH MONK: INNER VOICE

Director: Babeth Vanloo

Meredith Monk is a true Renaissance woman: a composer, singer, director, choreographer and creator of new opera, music theater, films and installations. Meredith Monk: Inner Voice is a wonderful behind-the-scenes look at this dynamic and sometimes mysterious performer. Following her as she creates a new piece entitled Songs of Ascension, this new documentary illuminates the artist at work, while also revealing her compelling personal history. As the film unfolds, it chronicles Songs as it flows from observations made in solitude, to rehearsals and workshops, and finally to performances with members of her Vocal Ensemble. Even at the performance stage, Monk continues to transform the piece by striving for a balance between discipline and freedom, while remaining open to impermanence and change – key facets of the Zen Buddhism at the core of her art. Also includes performance footage of Monk's tour through Italy.

BIOLOGY

DESIGNER GENES: THE SCIENCE AND THE ETHICS

Since its discovery in 1953, mankind has been increasingly fascinated with DNA, the genetic blueprint. From the selective breeding of plants and animals in agriculture, through to the production of recombinant proteins for medical purposes and, more recently, the cloning of animals, science has investigated ways of manipulating the basic genetic code. This program outlines the basic tools/techniques for manipulation of DNA and how these are being used to ask fundamental questions about how genes work. From a more applied angle we take a tour of the myriad ways these advances are being utilised in medicine, agriculture and the environment. Together with its applications, we discuss the range of ethical questions arising from genetic engineering and the manipulation of DNA to produce so called 'designer genes'.

MUTATIONS: CHANGING THE CODE

A mutagen is an agent (physical, chemical or biological) capable of altering the structure of DNA within our cells. Mutagens generally act either directly on the DNA themselves or produce chemicals that in turn act on the DNA causing substitutions, deletions, insertions, or rearrangement of important genetic code. In this program we take a look inside the human body to discover how the DNA in our cells can be affected by chemicals, radiation, and other things we encounter in our everyday lives. We also discuss how mutagens can result in the development of cancers in the human body.

Chapters:

- 1. Introduction
- 2. What are Mutations?
- 3. What is a Mutagen?
- 4. How do Mutagens Work?
- 5. Carcinogens and Cancer
- 6. Detecting Mutagens

ROLE OF ENZYMES, THE

Enzymes are the critical ingredient in every organism that make life possible. They are catalysts and drive every chemical reaction that takes place in the human body, enabling our bodies to be built from proteins, carbohydrates, and fats. In this program we investigate the role of enzymes in detail, offering both theoretical and practical examples. We look at how enzymes function in living organisms, enzyme kinetics, enzyme substrate complex, enzyme activity, and finally the power of enzymes in the 21st century. We demonstrate enzyme activity, and the affects of substrate concentration, the pH, temperature and inhibitors.

Chapters:

- 1. Introduction
- 2. An Introduction to Enzymes
- 3. Enzymes in Living Organisms
- 4. Enzyme Kinetics and Enzyme Substrate Complex
- 5. Enzyme Activity
- 6. The Power of Enzymes in the 21st Century

TRANSPORTATION SYSTEMS IN ANIMALS

This program explores the need for multicellular animals to have specialised internal transport systems. Following veterinary experts, we get an exclusive insight into the day-to-day activities of domestic animal health. Seeing what they do to save the life of that beloved family pet and at its core we see how the transport systems can efficiently distribute materials to and from all parts of the body, providing nutrients to cells and removing waste products. They also provide the vital link with the exchange (respiratory and excretory) systems. The evolutionary aspect of internal transport mechanisms is discussed. Following this is a detailed look at circulatory systems, including the differences between the closed systems of vertebrates and the open systems of invertebrates.

TRANSPORTATION SYSTEMS IN PLANTS

The earth's natural environment is home to millions of species of animals and plants, all made up of cells. But how do plants provide their cells with nutrients? Just like animals, plants rely on complex transport systems. These are systems that can efficiently distribute materials from soil and leaves to the parts of the plant where they are needed. This program explores why many multicellular plants have specialised internal transport systems, while looking at what a transport system is, how plants get their nutrition, and the structure and function of root hairs. Separate transport systems of the xylem and phloem are also discussed.

Chapters:

- 1. Introduction
- 2. What is a Transport System?
- 3. How do Plants get their Nutrient?
- 4. Root Hairs
- 5. Xylem Transport
- 6. Phloem Transport

TEAMWORK IN HOSPITALITY

Hospitality is a service offered the world over. Sometimes the service you receive is good, other times it is bad. There are many reasons why the quality of service you receive can vary, however it usually comes down to one thing - teamwork. Hospitality isn't a solo act; it takes a team of individuals working towards one shared goal in order to produce excellence.

Throughout this program we discuss front and back of house team structures, teamwork in general, roles and responsibilities of team members, communication, and customer feedback. A brilliant introduction to the teamwork aspect that applies to every tourism & hospitality organisation.

USING MICROBES IN FOOD

Microbes are important to us in everyday life for lots of reasons. One of the main areas in which we benefit from their existence and behaviour is in food. Foods such as vinegar, olives, yoghurt and processed meats all rely on the action of microbes to make them palatable, nutritious and suitable for human needs. This program examines the positive use of microbes in foods using four main examples to illustrate their function in the food manufacturing process - they are bread, beer, cheese and salami. But their usefulness does not stop with manufacturing - some microbes are critical to the nourishment of the human body.

WHAT WILL I SAY AT THE INTERVIEW?

Interviews - they're the point in the job application process where the employer has the opportunity to gain a firsthand impression of a candidate's character and suitability for a position. Being well prepared, able to anticipate questions and having considered appropriate responses ready, gives anyone facing a job interview a significant advantage. This program is filmed in documentary style as a job applicant, together with his professional advisor, goes through the process of preparing for and undertaking two job interviews. A number of key points about job interviews are covered, as well as a multitude of ways in which an applicant can prepare for interviews and be well in contention for the job they want. It also illustrates how a bit of careful thought and preparation can significantly enhance an applicant's performance in a job interview. CHEMISTRY

CHEMICAL EQUATIONS IN THE REAL WORLD

The word 'chemicals' might bring to mind pools of swirling, poisonous mixtures, dangerous acids or secret formulas ... but they are far more prominent in everyday life than we might first think. Very little in the physical world around us occurs without chemical reactions being involved. In this way, many of the important processes in modern manufacturing and product use can be summarised with chemical equations. This program takes an in-depth look at five common products that are in use all around us and explores the chemistry behind their manufacture and/or use, including chemical equations. Using graphics and footage from inside manufacturing plants, we see examples of how chemistry is so prevalent in the real world - and examine various reactions taking place. The products are soap, polystyrene, aluminium, paint and car batteries. Chapters: Soap Polystyrene Aluminium Paint Car Batteries

SAFETY IN THE SENIOR SCIENCE LAB

In every classroom in every school, everyone has the right to a safe learning environment. Science laboratories present a whole range of potential hazards to people's health and well-being, and it is critical that both teachers and students are fully aware of their responsibilities to ensure the learning environment is kept safe at all times. Everyone's behaviour must be such that danger is minimized - both to themselves and others.

After a few years performing experiments in the school lab, it is easy to forget that science laboratories can be dangerous places. Unfortunately, accidents can and do occur. The most common ones are fire, chemical and thermal burns, cuts from broken glass, absorption of toxic chemicals through the skin, and inhalation of toxic fumes. Some of these accidents result in permanent injury. Awareness and preventative action are therefore paramount to maintaining a safe environment.

This program is aimed at students who are not new to science laboratories. It covers a range of safety areas, including general safety in science laboratories and specific areas of potential risk in chemistry, biology and physics labs. It is an ideal learning resource for students of this level to remind them of the ever-present need to act with safety foremost in mind at all times during science classes.

CHRISTIANITY

WAITING FOR ARMAGEDDON

Director: Kate Davis, Franco Sacchi, & David Heilbroner

America's 50-million strong Evangelical community is convinced that the world's future is foretold in Biblical prophecy - from the Rapture to the Battle of Armageddon. This astonishing documentary explores their world - in their homes, at conferences, and on a wide-ranging tour of Israel. By interweaving Christian, Zionist, Jewish and critical perspectives along with telling archival materials, the filmmakers probe the politically powerful - and potentially explosive - alliance between Evangelical Christians and Israel...an alliance that may set the stage for what one prominent Evangelical leader calls "World War III."

Reviews

- "Carefully avoiding what could have been cheap sensationalism, Waiting for Armageddon is an extraordinarily impressive work that manages to take a complex, in ways contradictory subject and present it in a lucid, perceptive manner that allow us to understand the phenomenon of Christian Zionism and pre-Tribulation politics." - Richard Pena, Film Society of Lincoln Center
- "Alarmingly good and incendiary." - Village Voice

CAPTURING REALITY: THE ART OF DOCUMENTARY

Director: Pepita Ferrari

From cinema-verite pioneers Albert Maysles and Joan Churchill to maverick moviemakers like Errol Morris, Werner Herzog and Nick Broomfield, the world's best documentarians reflect upon the unique power of their genre in this comprehensive and eye-opening two-disc box set.

Featuring interviews with 38 directors and 163 film clips from classics such as Grey Gardens and The Thin Blue Line, as well as recent work like Darwin's Nightmare and Touching the Void, Capturing Reality explores the complex creative process that goes into making non-fiction films. Deftly charting the documentarian's journey, it poses the question: can film capture reality?

Reviews

- "A fascinating and authoritative record...like a who's who of the documentary world." - International Documentary Film Festival Amsterdam
- "Featuring 38 of the greatest names in documentary talking about every aspect of their creative process, it has great value as an education tool — and as a validation for why we do this in the first place." - Thomas White, Documentary.org

GHOSTED

Director: Monika Treut

Monika Treut (Female Misbehaviour, Gendernauts) returns to narrative filmmaking after a decade in documentary work with a mysterious love story about a Hamburg artist, Sophie, who is trying to come to terms with her Taiwanese lover Ai-Ling's murder. To ease her grief Sophie creates a video installation about Ai-Ling, and when she brings the exhibition to Taipei she meets the ambitious and seductive Mei-Li, a journalist who is investigating Ai-Ling's death. Unable to forget her dead lover and confused by Mei-Li's advances, she flees back to Hamburg. But when Mei-Li turns up on her doorstep, Sophie begins to suspect something strange is going on.

MY FUHRER

Director: Dani Levy

December 1944: the "total war" is as good as totally lost. Goebbels, however, isn't willing to be so easily defeated. On New Year's Day, the Fuhrer is supposed to re-ignite the public's fighting spirit with an aggressive speech. The only problem is that the Fuhrer can't do it. Sick and depressive, he is avoiding the public. The only person who can now help is his former acting teacher, Adolf Grunbaum... a Jew.

Goebbels spirits him and his family out of the Sachsenhausen concentration camp and sets them up in the Reich Chancellery. Time is running out - the Fuhrer has only five days to return to top form...

Reviews

- "An off-beat, absurdist fantasy...brings the abstract violence of war down to a personal level...a provocative, dissonant film that waltzes along to its own absurdist tempo." - Donald Munro, The Fresno Bee
- "A stellar cast, excellent production values and a neat storyline with a cheeky twist." - Derek Elley, Variety

OLD JEWS TELLING JOKES

Director: Sam Hoffman

Just what it's called: old Jews telling jokes. The 18 joke tellers featured aren't professionals; rather they're doctors, lawyers, a garment worker, a wine salesman — just like your favorite Jewish uncle or grandparent. With wonderful timing and mannerisms, and bouncy klezmer music backing them up, these funny old alter kockers deliver, with great delight, the off-color and risqué jokes from a bygone era.

WORLD'S NEXT SUPERMODEL, THE

By IJsbrand van Veelen

With America's version of capitalism seemingly heading for bankruptcy, is there a crisis-proof economic model that can shape the 21st century?

In THE WORLD'S NEXT SUPERMODEL, three prominent thinkers argue for competing economic models. Kishore Mahbubani, author of The New Asian Hemisphere, pitches the Asian model, characterized by the economic successes of China, India and Singapore. Wouter Bos, Dutch Minister of Finance, claims that the values of the European model are superior, while Brazilian economist Marcelo Neri praises the economic success of his country.

The proposals for these models are discussed by a jury consisting of macro-economist Willem Buiters, professor at the London School of Economics, New America Foundation's Parag Khanna, an expert analyst of global geopolitical issues, and author and Yale law and globalization professor Amy Chua.

These expert "judges," in a lively debate, examine the three models on the basis of issues such as social stability, environmental sustainability, government and market relationship, and their crisisproof nature. Their surprising decision is sure to provoke continued debates on this important global issue.

PEDIATRIC EMERGENCIES

In rural and urban areas, approximately 10 percent of all ambulance calls are for children younger than 14 years old. Trauma is the most common emergency call for children between 5 and 14 years of age, and illness is the most common emergency call for children younger than 5. Treating a pediatric patient can be one of the most stressful situations an EMS provider faces on the job. Many rescuers make a special connection with children because they are young and vulnerable. This course discusses the identification and management of pediatric trauma, as well as the assessment and treatment for pediatric patients in respiratory distress, respiratory failure, and shock. Common pediatric airway complications and emergencies are also defined.

FAMILY RELATIONS

OFF AND RUNNING

Director: Nicole Oppen

With white Jewish lesbians for parents and two adopted brothers - one mixed-race and one Korean - Brooklyn teen Avery grew up in a unique and loving household. But when her curiosity about her African-American roots grows, she decides to contact her birth mother. This choice propels Avery into her own complicated exploration of race, identity, and family that threatens to distance her from the parents she's always known. She begins staying away from home, starts skipping school, and risks losing her shot at the college track career she had always dreamed of. But when Avery decides to pick up the pieces of her life and make sense of her identity, the results are inspiring. Off and Running follows Avery to the brink of adulthood, exploring the strength of family bonds and the lengths people must go to become themselves.

Reviews

- "Fascinating...Oppen allows Avery's story to unfold with the sort of naturalistic drama usually associated with scripted features...a startlingly sharp portrait." - Eric Kohn, indieWIRE
- "This film is both very moving and very smart, not an easy combination to achieve. It illuminates so many issues in our world today -- from the role of race, to the changing nature of our families, to the struggle teens face growing up -- all through the prism of adoption. I'm certain that anyone connected to adoption will want to see it, but I also hope it gets a much wider audience, because the lessons it teaches are ones we all need to learn." - Adam Pertman, Executive Director of the Evan B. WAR AND LOVE IN KABUL

By Helga Reidemeister

Hossein and Shaima, who have known and loved each other since childhood, were separated as teenagers by war in Afghanistan. Today, reunited in Kabul, they remain deeply in love, but their relationship is socially and religiously prohibited.

Hossein, young and jobless in the late Nineties, was paid to fight with the Taliban and a war injury left his legs paralyzed. He is now handicapped, and unable to work. Shaima was sold in marriage to a man forty years her senior, by whom she had a child, but, since the dowry remained unpaid, her father brought her back home to live with her five-year-old child.

WAR AND LOVE IN KABUL, a deliberately paced, observational documentary, reveals their dilemma through interviews with Hossein and Shaima, and members of their respective families, each representing a different ethnic group, who object to the relationship because of their loyalty to ancient tribal laws and family notions of honor and pride. Indeed, the lovers live under the threat of violent revenge by male members of both families.

The film also discusses the prospects of marriage for Shaima's sisters within a culture in which daughters are virtually bought and sold, a tradition in which they are unable to pursue their own romantic desires but must submit to a marriage arranged by their father. WAR AND LOVE IN KABUL thus reveals the broader context of family life in a deeply traditional society, one in which the chances of personal happiness are very small.

ICE STORM

On January 12-14, 2007, Springfield, Missouri, was the center of an ice storm that left 1.5 inches of ice covering 29 counties and over 200,000 people without power for days and even weeks. That followed on the heels of a similar event but of a lesser nature only 6 weeks prior. Most recently, large areas of Oklahoma, Kansas, and Missouri suffered another severe ice storm that left one-third of all Oklahoma residents without power and led to the deaths of over 22 people. This course reviews the conditions that lead to major ice storms and how they impact emergency services. It also focuses on pre-incident preparation and operational considerations for incident mitigation. The lessons learned will provide basic principles that organizations can use to prepare for, and respond to, a wide range of natural disasters.

DESIGNING MENUS FOR HEALTHY DIETS

The ever-increasing pace of life for people of all ages means it is critical to plan for healthy eating accordingly.

In this program, teenager Jesse takes us through a dramatised story of how, once again, his mother has to work back and puts him on a mission of preparing the dinner for that night, with the usual parting instruction: "...a 'healthy' dinner, Jesse...." Jesse, by his own admission, is just not one hundred per cent sure about what real healthy food is but he's willing to find out. In following his story, the program covers areas including the function of food; understanding nutrients; today's fast-paced society; designing menus; and different menus. We also hear from two professional dieticians, Melanie McGrice and Ingrid Hilton. In an engaging and thorough way, this program covers important areas about healthy and nutritious menu planning.

Chapters:

- 1. Introduction
- 2. Function of Food
- 3. Understanding Nutrients
- 4. Today's Fast Paced Society ~ 5. Designing Menus

UNDERSTANDING FSANZ

Imagine a world with no food regulations that protected the public from harmful foods and ingredients - products high in harmful chemicals; no use by dates; inadequate packaging - it would be catastrophic. In Australia and New Zealand, the organisation responsible for this is Food Standards Australia New Zealand - or FSANZ. The independent government organisation as we know it today came into existence in 2001.

This program looks at the nature and structure of the organisation; its goals; its interaction with the food industry; the development of food standards; and the relationship between FSANZ & other authorities.

Various perspectives on the vital and complex work of FSANZ are offered by the organisation's communications manager, Lydia Buchtmann, also Brendan Gillespie the Operations Manager of pasta manufacturing company, Ubaldi Foods, and Moreland City Council's environmental health officer, Vicky Lambropoulos.

Chapters:

GAY & LESBIAN STUDIES

FISH OUT OF WATER

Director: Ky Dickens

Inspired by the experience of coming out as a lesbian to her sorority sisters during her senior year at Vanderbilt, filmmaker Ky Dickens explores the Biblical passages used to condemn homosexuality in this entertaining and informative documentary.

Interweaving whimsical animation with enlightening interviews from both within the lesbian and gay community and as well with conservative and progressive theologians from across the country, Fish Out Of Water breaks down seven key passages from the Old and New Testaments - from Adam and Eve to Sodom and Gomorrah and the Purity Codes - while confronting issues of translation and historical context that affect today's interpretations of the Bible.

As with the groundbreaking film For the Bible Tells Me So, Fish Out of Water is essential viewing for anyone who wants - or needs - a deeper understanding of this contentious issue, or who is engaged in our national dialogue about faith, homosexuality and same-sex marriage.

OFF AND RUNNING

Director: Nicole Oppen

With white Jewish lesbians for parents and two adopted brothers - one mixed-race and one Korean - Brooklyn teen Avery grew up in a unique and loving household. But when her curiosity about her African-American roots grows, she decides to contact her birth mother. This choice propels Avery into her own complicated exploration of race, identity, and family that threatens to distance her from the parents she's always known. She begins staying away from home, starts skipping school, and risks losing her shot at the college track career she had always dreamed of. But when Avery decides to pick up the pieces of her life and make sense of her identity, the results are inspiring. Off and Running follows Avery to the brink of adulthood, exploring the strength of family bonds and the lengths people must go to become themselves.

Reviews

- "Fascinating...Oppen allows Avery's story to unfold with the sort of naturalistic drama usually associated with scripted features...a startlingly sharp portrait." - Eric Kohn, indieWIRE
- "This film is both very moving and very smart, not an easy combination to achieve. It illuminates so many issues in our world today -- from the role of race, to the changing nature of our families, to the struggle teens face growing up -- all through the prism of adoption. I'm certain that anyone connected to adoption will want to see it, but I also hope it gets a much wider audience, because the lessons it teaches are ones we all need to learn." - Adam Pertman, Executive Director of the Evan B. GENDER ROLES

POOJARI'S DAUGHTER, THE

By Gillian Goslinga

In an informal survey of some 300 South Indian Hindu temples in the late 1990s, only four female poojaris or priestesses were counted. This is an intimate portrait of one such priestess, Rajathamma, who spiritually inherited from her father at his death the post of "periya poojari" or big priest. Weaving dramatic footage of the rituals and temple life at the non Brahmanical Hindu temple with Rajathamma's moving narration of her process, the documentary captures the conflict between her calling to serve her god and her attachment to her family.

CONFLICT MANAGEMENT IN HEALTH CARE: PRACTICAL STRATEGIES FOR RESOLVING CONFLICT

Aged care workers often find themselves in positions where they need to think on their feet and deal with conflict effectively. Relationships with residents or clients, their families and carers, other health professionals and managers of aged care services can require delicate balancing.

Through various dramatised scenarios, this program looks at a range of typical situations in an aged care environment where conflict between people occurs.

In each case, several potential responses to the situation are examined and conclusions drawn about the most effective and appropriate ways to deal with them.

Scenarios include conflict between aged care staff and relatives, conflict between peers, conflict between aged care staff and doctors, and conflict between aged care staff and the administration of a facility. This program is an excellent learning resource for nurses, and students undertaking courses related to working in other roles in the aged care industry.

It also serves as an engaging professional development aid for staff of aged care facilities.

CONFLICT MANAGEMENT IN HEALTH CARE: UNDERSTANDING THE NATURE OF CONFLICT

Conflict – it occurs in any workplace, and always needs to be carefully managed. In many ways, there is a greater potential for conflict to occur in an aged care environment than in a number of other workplaces. Relationships with residents or clients, their families and carers, other health professionals and managers of aged care services can require delicate balancing. There is generally a range of emotions and issues involved in the care of vulnerable people, and aged care workers often find themselves in positions where they need to think on their feet and deal with conflict effectively.

This program serves as an excellent introduction to conflict in an aged care environment. It defines conflict in various forms, and explores conflicting situations specific to the aged care industry. A range of skills needed for conflict resolution are examined, and the program finishes with a look at behaviours that elicit resistance, and those that elicit cooperation.

This program is an excellent learning resource for nurses, and students undertaking courses related to working in other roles in the aged care industry. It also serves as an engaging professional development aid for staff of aged care facilities.

COMPETITIVE MARKETING IN TOURISM

Tourism is a highly competitive industry. In the 21st century the range of possible tourism experiences is limited only by the imagination. So how does a tourism organisation, a region or an individual tourism operator try to snare market share? Much of the answer lies in marketing – how a tourism destination is positioned and projected to its target market. This program explores the world of competitive marketing in tourism and looks at some of the strategies employed to place a tourism destination or experience well and truly in the mix when it comes to people making choices about spending their tourism dollars. Using Mt Hotham in the alpine region of Victoria as a case study, it covers areas including defining a destination, image and branding, sustainability and destination competitiveness, the role of cooperation in building competitiveness, and destination marketing. Throughout the program, experts – Gina Woodward from Mt Hotham Lift Company and Jessica Rose from Mt Hotham Resort provide an insight into specific areas of competitive tourism marketing relating to Mt Hotham. We also hear from Tourism Victoria's Phil Harman about marketing tourism destinations on a wider scale.

EMERGING TOURISM MARKETS

Attracting both international and domestic tourist dollars is the key objective for any tourism-related business. In Australia, as in many other countries, the industry has to consistently innovate and find new ways of meeting new markets. In this program we investigate four emerging tourism markets: adventure tourism, ecotourism, indigenous tourism and MICE (meetings, incentives, conferences and exhibitions). Starting with the definition of a number of industry-related terms, this informative program then examines each of these emerging tourism markets and looks at the typical characteristics of tourists likely to seek these experiences. We also explore various ways in which the Australian industry is positioning itself to cater for growing demand in these niche areas. Our presenter takes us to a number of different locations, including the offices of Lonely Planet, and the program features a range of spectacular footage, illustrating the diversity of experiences Australia has to offer. This enthralling program delivers an excellent overview of these four important growth areas in tourism.

USING MICROBES IN FOOD

Microbes are important to us in everyday life for lots of reasons. One of the main areas in which we benefit from their existence and behaviour is in food. Foods such as vinegar, olives, yoghurt and processed meats all rely on the action of microbes to make them palatable, nutritious and suitable for human needs. This program examines the positive use of microbes in foods using four main examples to illustrate their function in the food manufacturing process - they are bread, beer, cheese and salami. But their usefulness does not stop with manufacturing - some microbes are critical to the nourishment of the human body.

DEFAMATION

Director: Yoav Shamir

Is anti-Semitism an immediate threat on the verge of coalescing into a second Holocaust? Or is it a scare tactic used by right-wing Zionists to discredit their critics? Speaking with the head of the Anti-Defamation League, controversial author Norman Finkelstein, and others, Yoav Shamir sets out to discover the realities of anti-Semitism today. His findings are both shocking and wryly funny.

Review

- "Soul searching...(Yoav Shamir is) dazlingly skilled at capturing characters in humorous and emotional situations that allow viewers to reach their own conclusions." – Bernard Dichek, The Jerusalem Report

MY FUHRER

Director: Dani Levy

December 1944: the "total war" is as good as totally lost. Goebbels, however, isn't willing to be so easily defeated. On New Year's Day, the Fuhrer is supposed to re-ignite the public's fighting spirit with an aggressive speech. The only problem is that the Fuhrer can't do it. Sick and depressive, he is avoiding the public. The only person who can now help is his former acting teacher, Adolf Grunbaum... a Jew.

Goebbels spirits him and his family out of the Sachsenhausen concentration camp and sets them up in the Reich Chancellery. Time is running out - the Fuhrer has only five days to return to top form...

Reviews

- "An off-beat, absurdist fantasy...brings the abstract violence of war down to a personal level...a provocative, dissonant film that waltzes along to its own absurdist tempo." - Donald Munro, The Fresno Bee
- "A stellar cast, excellent production values and a neat storyline with a cheeky twist." - Derek Elley, Variety

OFF AND RUNNING

Director: Nicole Oppen

With white Jewish lesbians for parents and two adopted brothers - one mixed-race and one Korean - Brooklyn teen Avery grew up in a unique and loving household. But when her curiosity about her African-American roots grows, she decides to contact her birth mother. This choice propels Avery into her own complicated exploration of race, identity, and family that threatens to distance her from the parents she's always known. She begins staying away from home, starts skipping school, and risks losing her shot at the college track career she had always dreamed of. But when Avery decides to pick up the pieces of her life and make sense of her identity, the results are inspiring. Off and Running follows Avery to the brink of adulthood, exploring the strength of family bonds and the lengths people must go to become themselves.

Reviews

- "Fascinating...Opper allows Avery's story to unfold with the sort of naturalistic drama usually associated with scripted features...a startlingly sharp portrait." - Eric Kohn, indieWIRE
- "This film is both very moving and very smart, not an easy combination to achieve. It illuminates so many issues in our world today -- from the role of race, to the changing nature of our families, to the struggle teens face growing up -- all through the prism of adoption. I'm certain that anyone connected to adoption will want to see it, but I also hope it gets a much wider audience, because the lessons it teaches are ones we all need to learn." - Adam Pertman, Executive Director of the Evan B. Donaldson Adoption Institute and Pulitzer-prize nominated author of best-selling "Adoption Nation"

OLD JEWS TELLING JOKES

Director: Sam Hoffman

Just what it's called: old Jews telling jokes. The 18 joke tellers featured aren't professionals; rather they're doctors, lawyers, a garment worker, a wine salesman – just like your favorite Jewish uncle or grandparent. With wonderful timing and mannerisms, and bouncy klezmer music backing them up, these funny old alter kockers deliver, with great delight, the off-color and risqué jokes from a bygone era.

WAITING FOR ARMAGEDDON

Director: Kate Davis, Franco Sacchi, & David Heilbroner

America's 50-million strong Evangelical community is convinced that the world's future is foretold in Biblical prophecy - from the Rapture to the Battle of Armageddon. This astonishing documentary explores their world - in their homes, at conferences, and on a wide-ranging tour of Israel. By interweaving Christian, Zionist, Jewish and critical perspectives along with telling archival materials, the filmmakers probe the politically powerful - and potentially explosive - alliance between Evangelical Christians and Israel...an alliance that may set the stage for what one prominent Evangelical leader calls "World War III."

Reviews

- "Carefully avoiding what could have been cheap sensationalism, Waiting for Armageddon is an extraordinarily impressive work that manages to take a complex, in ways contradictory subject and present it in a lucid, perceptive manner that allow us to understand the phenomenon of Christian Zionism and pre-Tribulation politics." - Richard Pena, Film Society of Lincoln Center
- "Alarmingly good and incendiary." - Village Voice

JOB SEARCH

MY FIRST JOB

Whether it's your first serious job, or just the first day at a new job, settling in and finding your way around a new workplace can be daunting.

New employees can be reticent and feel uncomfortable about finding out the information they want and need to know on day one. But this should not be the case. Most workplaces will have formal or informal strategies relating to the induction of new staff and appropriate personnel to oversee it.

This program explores a range of areas relevant to starting at a new workplace, including what a new employee should consider and prepare for and ways in which workplaces are typically set up to ensure a smooth induction for new staff. Featuring career coach, Julie Farthing, and Dr Alan Montague from AIT University, the program also covers preparation by the employee, inductions, getting to know your workmates, troubleshooting and surviving the first week.

Chapters:

- 1. Introduction
- 2. Inductions
- 3. Getting to Know Your Workmates
- 4. Troubleshooting
- 5. Surviving the First Week

LATIN AMERICA

CRUDE

Director: Joe Berlinger

Three years in the making, this cinema-verite feature from acclaimed filmmaker Joe Berlinger (Brother's Keeper, Paradise Lost, Metallica: Some Kind of Monster) is the epic story of one of the largest and most controversial legal cases on the planet. An inside look at the infamous $27 billion "Amazon Chernobyl" case, Crude is a real-life high stakes legal drama set against a backdrop of the environmental movement, global politics, celebrity activism, human rights advocacy, the media, multinational corporate power, and rapidly-disappearing indigenous cultures. Presenting a complex situation from multiple viewpoints, the film subverts the conventions of advocacy filmmaking as it examines a complicated situation from all angles while bringing an important story of environmental peril and human suffering into focus.

THEY KILLED SISTER DOROTHY

Director: Daniel Junge
 Narrated by Martin Sheen

At the mouth of the Amazon River, a murder trial is taking place. The victim – Sister Dorothy Stang, a 73-year-old Catholic nun from Dayton, Ohio – was shot six times at point blank range. The events that led to her death, and the trials that follow, reveal the larger battle being fought for the future of the rainforest.

With unprecedented access to both sides of the conflict, this gripping documentary follows the real-life drama at the trials of Dorothy's killers, while exploring the conflicts in the Amazon that led to that fateful day.

Reviews

- "A riveting courtroom drama set against the combustible backdrop of the decimated rain forest, with a dramatic courtroom turnabout that blows everything that's come before out of the water." - Austin Chronicle
- "Outlandish and gripping trial scenes... a stark illustration of corruption and the fight against it." - The Guardian (UK)

TOP SECRET TRIAL OF THE THIRD REICH, THE

Director: Jochen Bauer

Top Secret Trial of the Third Reich is the true story of the assassination attempt on Hitler's life- the events that formed the basis for the fiction film Valkyrie.

In August of 1944, Hitler ordered the trial of the "Men of the 20th of July," a group of resistance fighters who conspired to assassinate the Fuhrer. Under orders from Goebbels, cameras were hidden in the courtroom and the resulting footage was transformed into a propaganda tool. Goebbels released his film to the public, but only succeeded in generating sympathy for resistance members, who were sentenced to death by the visibly deranged Nazi tribunal judge, Roland Freisler. Having miscalculated the impact of these images, Goebbels ordered the film banned and destroyed. But one print has been found.

Through authentic footage of the trial, the film details the various attempts to assassinate Hitler—from the bomb in Munich's Burgerbraukeller to Claus von Stauffenberg's explosive attack on the Wolfsschanze—and sheds light on the anti-Nazi resistance. Featuring previously unavailable film and sound documentation of the National Committee for a Free Germany, a German resistance group in a Russian camp, Top Secret Trial of the Third Reich also unearths new information about members of the Kreisau Circle and the White Rose.

MACHINING & MATERIAL REMOVAL PROCESSES

FUNDAMENTAL MANUFACTURING PROCESSES: MILLING & MACHINING CENTERS

Milling is a highly versatile machining process that uses rotating, multi-edge cutters to generate flat and contoured surfaces. Because of its effectiveness, cutting tool choices, and compatibility with automation, milling with machining centers is perhaps the most important high-volume manufacturing process for shaping materials.

This program provides a broad understanding of the milling process, including segments on:

- The basic components of the knee mill and machining centers
- Milling cutters, operations, accessories, and process variables
- Toolchanging, workchanging & workholding arrangements on machining centers

This program concludes with a review to summarize and reinforce the presented material.

This program provides a broad understanding of the turning process, including segments on:

- The basic elements that comprise the lathe
- Lathe operations and process variables
- Manual through computer numerical control (CNC) lathe types
- Tooling and workholding arrangements on production lathes

CODES OF GENDER: IDENTITY AND PERFORMANCE IN POP CULTURE

Directed by Sut Jhally

The Codes of Gender applies the late sociologist Erving Goffman's groundbreaking analysis of advertising to the contemporary commercial landscape, showing how one of American popular culture's most influential forms communicates normative ideas about masculinity and femininity.

In striking visual detail, The Codes of Gender explores Goffman's central claim that gender ideals are the result of ritualized cultural performance, uncovering a remarkable pattern of masculine and feminine displays and poses. It looks beyond advertising as a medium that simply sells products, and beyond analyses of gender that focus on biological difference or issues of objectification and beauty, to provide a clear-eyed view of the two-tiered terrain of identity and power relations.

With its sustained focus on how our perceptions of what it means to be a man or a woman get reproduced and reinforced on the level of culture in our everyday lives, The Codes of Gender is certain to inspire discussion and debate across a range of disciplines.

ABE OSHEROFF: ONE FOOT IN THE GRAVE, THE OTHER STILL DANCING

Director: Nadeem Uddin

Most people knew Abe Osheroff as an activist. For most of his 92 years - from the frontlines of the Spanish Civil War to the picket lines of the U.S. labor movement, from the struggles for civil rights in Mississippi to his work for human rights in Nicaragua - Osheroff threw himself into the fray with rare energy and enthusiasm. In this riveting and inspiring new film, Osheroff reflects on the meaning of his activism, exploring the ideas that animated his actions and sharing wisdom built up over a lifetime of commitment to the "radical humanism" that defined his politics and philosophy

BLIND SPOT: PEAK OIL & THE COMING GLOBAL CRISIS

Director: Adolfo Doring

In this haunting portrait of America's oil-fueled excesses, director Adolfo Doring explores the inextricable link between the energy we use, the way we run our economy, and the multiplying threats that now confront the environmental health and stability of our planet. Taking as its starting point the inevitable energy depletion scenario known as "Peak Oil," the film surveys a fascinating range of the latest intellectual, political, and scientific thought to make the case that by whatever measure of greed, wishful thinking, neglect, or ignorance, we now find ourselves at a disturbing crossroads: we can continue to burn fossil fuels and witness the collapse of our ecology, or we can choose not to and witness the collapse of our economy. Refusing to whitewash this reality, Blind Spot issues a call to action, urging us to face up to the perilous situation we now find ourselves in so that we might begin to envision a realistic, if inconvenient, way out. Certain to inspire debate in classrooms across a range of disciplines, especially in economics, environmental studies, the natural sciences, and political science.

Reviews

- "Blind Spot rides currents of beauty and sadness, ultimately landing with a catharsis that comes when truth has been told." - Jason Bradford, Founder of 'Willits Economic Localization'
- "Doubtless Peak Oil will come, the timing is a matter of debate. However we may be better off if it is not too long delayed, because it will accelerate what must be done to prevent environmental catastrophe." - Noam Chomsky

LIVE: FROM BETHLEHEM

By Matt Sienkiewicz and Joseph C. Sousa

The Bethlehem-based Ma'an News Agency (MNA) emerged out of the ashes of the second Intifada to become the only independent news network in the Palestinian Territories and an increasingly prominent and influential journalistic force in the wider Middle East. Live from Bethlehem tells MNA's remarkable story. It chronicles the agency's struggles and successes through the eyes of the station's reporters, producers, and photographers, in the process quietly revealing the humanity of ordinary Palestinians as they go about their daily business. The documentary trains its focus on people more than on abstract issues, yet it never loses sight of the myriad social and political forces and pressures that Ma'an journalists are forced to negotiate as they try to gather and report balanced information. What results is an admirably nuanced portrait of how news gets produced, and how Palestinians live, in one of the world's most troubled regions.

- "A truly superb film...exceptional in its nuanced portrayal of the forces that come to bear on media production in the Palestinian Territories." - Dr. Michael Curtin, author of Playing to the World's Biggest Audience

MIDDLE EAST

WAR AND LOVE IN KABUL

By Helga Reidemeister

Hossein and Shaima, who have known and loved each other since childhood, were separated as teenagers by war in Afghanistan. Today, reunited in Kabul, they remain deeply in love, but their relationship is socially and religiously prohibited.

Hossein, young and jobless in the late Nineties, was paid to fight with the Taliban and a war injury left his legs paralyzed. He is now handicapped, and unable to work. Shaima was sold in marriage to a man forty years her senior, by whom she had a child, but, since the dowry remained unpaid, her father brought her back home to live with her five-year-old child.

WAR AND LOVE IN KABUL, a deliberately paced, observational documentary, reveals their dilemma through interviews with Hossein and Shaima, and members of their respective families, each representing a different ethnic group, who object to the relationship because of their loyalty to ancient tribal laws and family notions of honor and pride. Indeed, the lovers live under the threat of violent revenge by male members of both families.

The film also discusses the prospects of marriage for Shaima's sisters within a culture in which daughters are virtually bought and sold, a tradition in which they are unable to pursue their own romantic desires but must submit to a marriage arranged by their father. WAR AND LOVE IN KABUL thus reveals the broader context of family life in a deeply traditional society, one in which the chances of personal happiness are very small.

SONGS OF A SORROWFUL MAN: DUKHUSHYAM CHITRAKAR OF NAYA VILLAGE, WEST BENGAL, INDIA

By Lina Fruzzetti, Akos Ostor, Aditi Nath Sarkar

Charismatic and unconventional, Dukhushyam is a painter, composer, and singer who is legendary in rural West Bengal. As documented in Singing Pictures (2006), he encourages Indian women to take up the craft of scroll painting and musical composition traditionally pursued by men. This new film chronicles his vision of the decline and rebirth of his art; his tolerant Sufi Muslim spirituality; his engagement with Hindus, Muslims and the modern world; his encyclopedic knowledge of music and painting; and his teachings for future generations of painters and singers in his community.

NURSING

ETHICS AND LEGAL CONCEPTS IN NURSING: CONSENT

To protect patient's interests in health care, principles of informed consent have been developed to ensure a person's right to decide the type of treatments they are prepared to receive. Patients see themselves as active participants in their health care and health care professions support this involvement. Informed consent not only protects the patients' rights, but also those of nurses and other health care professionals, from possible legal ramifications.

It is a complex area, and one that can present medical professionals, including nurses, with ethical dilemmas. If consent is given (or not) by a patient or by a patient's partner or family member - and abiding by their wishes places their life or health in jeopardy - what do you do?

In the world of health care, procedures can be risky and invasive. Expert health care knowledge means that there is the potential for a power imbalance in the nurse/patient relationship.

Furthermore, the advancement of health care knowledge and technology relies on research, which often requires patient involvement.

This program looks at consent in health care through the dramatised presentation of two case studies.

Chapters:

- 1. Consent in Health Care: Overview
- 2. Common Dilemmas: Case Study 1
- 3. Common Dilemmas: Case Study 2

ETHICS AND LEGAL CONCEPTS IN NURSING: INTRODUCTION

Whenever newspapers or other media carry stories about the public's perception of the level of ethics associated with various professions, nursing always rates very highly.

Nurses deal with people, and often those with whom they deal are highly vulnerable. Nurses have a duty of care to patients, and their profession demands ethical behaviour and treatment of those in their care – at all times.

This program explores ethics in nursing, with reference to the Australian Code of Nursing Ethics. It defines ethics, and explains why it is critical that nurses know about ethics and the standards of behaviour that are demanded by their profession. It also takes a look at what ethics are not, as often there can be confusion in people's minds about exactly what defines ethics. It examines various types of ethics and how they impact on, and play out in, the nursing profession, and features two experts – Sue Hunter from La Trobe University's Division of Nursing and Midwifery, and Registered Nurse, Sally Heads.

This program is essential viewing for any nurse in training – either at university or other post-secondary institutions. It also is ideal as a professional development tool for a range of health care institutions, clinics and care facilities.

It was produced with the assistance of the residents and staff of Residential Aged Services' Willow View Aged Care Facility in Pakenham, Victoria.

Chapters:

- 1. Why Nurses Need to Know About Ethics.
- 2. What Ethics Is and What It's Not.
- 3. Where Nurses Obtain Ethical Knowledge - Part 1.
- 4. Where Nurses Obtain Ethical Knowledge - Part 2.
- 5. How Ethics Informs Practice - Ethical Decision Making.

PEACE & CONFLICT RESOLUTION

BRICK CITY

Director: Mark Benjamin and Marc Levin

Brick City is the provocative and eye-opening documentary series that fans out around the city of Newark, New Jersey to capture the daily drama of a community striving to become a better, safer, stronger place to live.

Against great odds, Newark's citizens and its Mayor, Cory Booker, fight to raise the city out of a half century of violence, poverty and corruption. Booker, an outspoken and charismatic mayor who many compare to Barack Obama, works with Police Director Garry McCarthy, youth mentors, Blood and Crip gang members and other citizens on the front line to bring peace and prosperity to their once-proud city.

Bringing to life the true challenges and adventures of social transformation and urban renewal, Brick City goes from City Hall to the street to create a vivid portrait of a city at a critical moment in history.

PERFORMANCE

MEREDITH MONK: INNER VOICE

Director: Babeth Vanloo

Meredith Monk is a true Renaissance woman: a composer, singer, director, choreographer and creator of new opera, music theater, films and installations. Meredith Monk: Inner Voice is a wonderful behind-the-scenes look at this dynamic and sometimes mysterious performer. Following her as she creates a new piece entitled Songs of Ascension, this new documentary illuminates the artist at work, while also revealing her compelling personal history. As the film unfolds, it chronicles Songs as it flowers from observations made in solitude, to rehearsals and workshops, and finally to performances with members of her Vocal Ensemble. Even at the performance stage, Monk continues to transform the piece by striving for a balance between discipline and freedom, while remaining open to impermanence and change – key facets of the Zen Buddhism at the core of her art. Also includes performance footage of Monk's tour through Italy.

PHYSICS

CATCHING THE SUN: THE PHYSICS OF SOLAR ENERGY

As the world increasingly focuses on alternatives to the carbon-emitting fossil fuels that we have relied on for over a century, scientists are continually developing more efficient methods to collect the sun, as harnessing solar energy is becoming more and more viable. This program is an excellent introduction to the principles behind solar energy collection and its various usages such as generating electricity, and for heating space and water.

It covers what is solar energy; thermal and electrical uses of solar energy; and catches a glimpse of what the future might look like with current developments that are paving the way for a solar future. The program provides an ideal background for students to research and examine further cutting edge case studies that demonstrate how powerful the potential is for everyday use of solar energy in homes, commerce and industry, and in vehicles.

PHYSICS OF MEDICAL IMAGING, THE

Medical imaging is a critical tool in the diagnosis of health conditions, and therefore in decisions about the most appropriate and effective treatment of patients. This technology has developed at a significant rate in recent decades, and is making possible a whole range of important advances in the way we look after people's health. Behind the technology of medical imaging are a number of important principles of physics, and it is this discipline which has underpinned the advances made in modern health care. This program looks in depth at four kinds of sensing used in medical imaging - Ultrasound, Electromagnetic waves including X-Rays and CAT scans, radioactivity, such as PET or Positron Emission Tomography, and Magnetic Resonance Imaging or MRI, which uses electromagnetism. Chapters: Ultrasound Electromagnetic Waves - X-Rays and CT Scans Radioactivity and PET Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI)

BLACK SUN: THE MYTHOLOGICAL BACKGROUND OF NATIONAL SOCIALISM

By Rudiger Sunner

BLACK SUN sheds new light on the sources of Nazi ideology by examining its occult roots in the world of myths, symbols and fantasies. It traces this development from the writings of various mystics in the early 20th century, which located the original home of the Germanic peoples in sunken continents such as "Thule" and "Atlantis," and propagated the mythology of a superior Nordic race whose heroes fought the forces of moral decadence and racial impurity.

The film uses interviews, rare archival footage and contemporary scenes shot in historic locales throughout Germany to chronicle how the Nazis used these mythological foundations to develop Nazism as a political religion, with the SS conceived as a "Holy Order" defending "Aryan light" from the "Jewish-Bolshevik darkness." It profiles some of the more eccentric members of the SS-including Karl Maria Wiligut, Richard Anders and Otto Rahn-plus cofounders of the Ancestral Heritage Society-Wolfram Sievers and Herman Wirth-who conducted anthropological and archaeological research to confirm their theories of a "master race."

While BLACK SUN documents the nationalist mystical beliefs that infused National Socialism, the film also reveals the disturbing perpetuation of these beliefs among certain cult groups in Germany today, reflecting an ongoing search for salvation, inspiration and messianic leaders

RELIGION

FISH OUT OF WATER

Director: Ky Dickens

Inspired by the experience of coming out as a lesbian to her sorority sisters during her senior year at Vanderbilt, filmmaker Ky Dickens explores the Biblical passages used to condemn homosexuality in this entertaining and informative documentary.

Interweaving whimsical animation with enlightening interviews from both within the lesbian and gay community and as well with conservative and progressive theologians from across the country, Fish Out Of Water breaks down seven key passages from the Old and New Testaments - from Adam and Eve to Sodom and Gomorrah and the Purity Codes - while confronting issues of translation and historical context that affect today's interpretations of the Bible.

As with the groundbreaking film For the Bible Tells Me So, Fish Out of Water is essential viewing for anyone who wants - or needs - a deeper understanding of this contentious issue, or who is engaged in our national dialogue about faith, homosexuality and same-sex marriage.

POOJARI'S DAUGHTER, THE

By Gillian Goslinga

In an informal survey of some 300 South Indian Hindu temples in the late 1990s, only four female poojaris or priestesses were counted. This is an intimate portrait of one such priestess, Rajathamma, who spiritually inherited from her father at his death the post of "periya poojari" or big priest. Weaving dramatic footage of the rituals and temple life at the non Brahmanical Hindu temple with Rajathamma's moving narration of her process, the documentary captures the conflict between her calling to serve her god and her attachment to her family.

By Lina Fruzzetti, Akos Ostor, Aditi Nath Sarkar

Charismatic and unconventional, Dukhushyam is a painter, composer, and singer who is legendary in rural West Bengal. As documented in Singing Pictures (2006), he encourages Indian women to take up the craft of scroll painting and musical composition traditionally pursued by men. This new film chronicles his vision of the decline and rebirth of his art; his tolerant Sufi Muslim spirituality; his engagement with Hindus, Muslims and the modern world; his encyclopedic knowledge of music and painting; and his teachings for future generations of painters and singers in his community.

WAITING FOR ARMAGEDDON

Director: Kate Davis, Franco Sacchi, & David Heilbronner

America's 50-million strong Evangelical community is convinced that the world's future is foretold in Biblical prophecy - from the Rapture to the Battle of Armageddon. This astonishing documentary explores their world - in their homes, at conferences, and on a wide-ranging tour of Israel. By interweaving Christian, Zionist, Jewish and critical perspectives along with telling archival materials, the filmmakers probe the politically powerful - and potentially explosive - alliance between Evangelical Christians and Israel...an alliance that may set the stage for what one prominent Evangelical leader calls "World War III."

Reviews

- "Carefully avoiding what could have been cheap sensationalism, Waiting for Armageddon is an extraordinarily impressive work that manages to take a complex, in ways contradictory subject and present it in a lucid, perceptive manner that allow us to understand the phenomenon of Christian Zionism and pre-Tribulation politics." - Richard Pena, Film Society of Lincoln Center

SOCIOLOGY

WAR AND LOVE IN KABUL

By Helga Reidemeister

Hossein and Shaima, who have known and loved each other since childhood, were separated as teenagers by war in Afghanistan. Today, reunited in Kabul, they remain deeply in love, but their relationship is socially and religiously prohibited.

Hossein, young and jobless in the late Nineties, was paid to fight with the Taliban and a war injury left his legs paralyzed. He is now handicapped, and unable to work. Shaima was sold in marriage to a man forty years her senior, by whom she had a child, but, since the dowry remained unpaid, her father brought her back home to live with her five-year-old child.

WAR AND LOVE IN KABUL, a deliberately paced, observational documentary, reveals their dilemma through interviews with Hossein and Shaima, and members of their respective families, each representing a different ethnic group, who object to the relationship because of their loyalty to ancient tribal laws and family notions of honor and pride. Indeed, the lovers live under the threat of violent revenge by male members of both families.

The film also discusses the prospects of marriage for Shaima's sisters within a culture in which daughters are virtually bought and sold, a tradition in which they are unable to pursue their own romantic desires but must submit to a marriage arranged by their father. WAR AND LOVE IN KABUL thus reveals the broader context of family life in a deeply traditional society, one in which the chances of personal happiness are very small.

SPORTS

BLOOD SWEAT & GEARS

Director: Nick Davis

Blood Sweat & Gears is the inspirational story of America's only ProTour cycling team, a team devoted not only to cleaning up the sport of cycling but to winning the Tour de France.

Setting off from the frozen roads of a Colorado winter, racing over the dangerous cobblestones of the Spring classic Paris-Roubaix, and finally arriving to the Champs-Elysees, the grand Parisian boulevard which marks the end of the Tour de France, this riveting, eye-opening documentary takes viewers on an incredible emotional journey, following the ups and downs of underdog cycling team as they try, against all odds, to ride triumphantly into Paris.

From the intensive daily training required to compete at the highest level to the glory of winning races against the world's best pro riders, Blood Sweat & Gears captures the passion and suffering of this simultaneously brutal and beautiful sport.

WOMEN'S STUDIES

GHOSTED

Director: Monika Treut

Monika Treut (Female Misbehaviour, Gendernauts) returns to narrative filmmaking after a decade in documentary work with a mysterious love story about a Hamburg artist, Sophie, who is trying to come to terms with her Taiwanese lover Ai-Ling's murder. To ease her grief Sophie creates a video installation about Ai-Ling, and when she brings the exhibition to Taipei she meets the ambitious and seductive Mei-Li, a journalist who is investigating Ai-Ling's death. Unable to forget her dead lover and confused by Mei-Li's advances, she flees back to Hamburg. But when Mei-Li turns up on her doorstep, Sophie begins to suspect something strange is going on.

WORLD HISTORY

BLACK SUN: THE MYTHOLOGICAL BACKGROUND OF NATIONAL SOCIALISM

By Rudiger Sunner

BLACK SUN sheds new light on the sources of Nazi ideology by examining its occult roots in the world of myths, symbols and fantasies. It traces this development from the writings of various mystics in the early 20th century, which located the original home of the Germanic peoples in sunken continents such as "Thule" and "Atlantis," and propagated the mythology of a superior Nordic race whose heroes fought the forces of moral decadence and racial impurity.

The film uses interviews, rare archival footage and contemporary scenes shot in historic locales throughout Germany to chronicle how the Nazis used these mythological foundations to develop Nazism as a political religion, with the SS conceived as a "Holy Order" defending "Aryan light" from the "Jewish-Bolshevik darkness." It profiles some of the more eccentric members of the SS-including Karl Maria Wiligut, Richard Anders and Otto Rahn-plus cofounders of the Ancestral Heritage Society-Wolfram Sievers and Herman Wirth-who conducted anthropological and archaeological research to confirm their theories of a "master race."

While BLACK SUN documents the nationalist mystical beliefs that infused National Socialism, the film also reveals the disturbing perpetuation of these beliefs among certain cult groups in Germany today, reflecting an ongoing search for salvation, inspiration and messianic leaders

Director: Jochen Bauer

Top Secret Trial of the Third Reich is the true story of the assassination attempt on Hitler's life- the events that formed the basis for the fiction film Valkyrie.

In August of 1944, Hitler ordered the trial of the "Men of the 20th of July," a group of resistance fighters who conspired to assassinate the Fuhrer. Under orders from Goebbels, cameras were hidden in the courtroom and the resulting footage was transformed into a propaganda tool. Goebbels released his film to the public, but only succeeded in generating sympathy for resistance members, who were sentenced to death by the visibly deranged Nazi tribunal judge, Roland Freisler. Having miscalculated the impact of these images, Goebbels ordered the film banned and destroyed. But one print has been found.

Through authentic footage of the trial, the film details the various attempts to assassinate Hitler—from the bomb in Munich's Burgerbraukeller to Claus von Stauffenberg's explosive attack on the Wolfsschanze—and sheds light on the anti-Nazi resistance. Featuring previously unavailable film and sound documentation of the National Committee for a Free Germany, a German resistance group in a Russian camp, Top Secret Trial of the Third Reich also unearths new information about members of the Kreisau Circle and the White Rose.

WORLD WAR II

MY FUHRER

Director: Dani Levy

December 1944: the "total war" is as good as totally lost. Goebbels, however, isn't willing to be so easily defeated. On New Year's Day, the Fuhrer is supposed to re-ignite the public's fighting spirit with an aggressive speech. The only problem is that the Fuhrer can't do it. Sick and depressive, he is avoiding the public. The only person who can now help is his former acting teacher, Adolf Grunbaum... a Jew.

Goebbels spirits him and his family out of the Sachsenhausen concentration camp and sets them up in the Reich Chancellery. Time is running out - the Fuhrer has only five days to return to top form...

Reviews

- "An off-beat, absurdist fantasy...brings the abstract violence of war down to a personal level...a provocative, dissonant film that waltzes along to its own absurdist tempo." - Donald Munro, The Fresno Bee
- "A stellar cast, excellent production values and a neat storyline with a cheeky twist." - Derek Elley, Variety

拉莫荷 - 尋找原住民的古調

導演：陳建維

並非只有上街頭抗爭才是原住民運動
文化的保存；歌謠的採集
更是真正有力量的內在運動
--- 雲力思

「拉莫荷」便是泰雅族古老深奧的語言
在迂迴謙虛的對話中
都在表現彼此對話的智慧
--- 黑帶 巴彥

雲力思，入選歐洲「世界音樂大獎」的台灣原住民，更獲 2009 年「最佳原住民語歌手獎」殊榮。
她用最美的歌聲，感動所有的歐洲音樂人。
她不止唱歌，她被視為台灣原住民的良知。
她到日本，向軍國主義抗議。
在靖國神社前，她高唱泰雅族的歌曲，要求：「還我祖靈！」
因為，她的祖先是台灣高砂義勇隊，在南洋戰場犧牲了。
她不要他們被供奉在日本的神社，她要帶祖

先的英靈。

她還到聯合國，請日本人向戰爭的亡靈道歉！

根據統計全台有二萬餘名原住民受迫加入高砂義勇隊
生存下來回到家鄉的只有半數
並有許多已留下無法恢復的傷殘
目前已知被留祀在靖國神社中的至少有 8000 人以上(日本官方並未公佈確實數字)
而台籍日本兵約有 2 萬餘人
留祀在靖國神社中
原住民部份便占了幾近二分之一

這一個傳奇女子的勇氣，不是來自街頭，不是為了抗爭，而是來自祖先
她到最遠的深山，最古老的部落，去追尋祖先的歌，
去尋找被遺落在老人家心中的聲音。
她用生命，用歌聲，追尋自然與祖靈的足跡。

這一部記錄片，記載著雲力思如何尋找最傳奇的原住民古調。
這一部記錄片，不只讓你看見雲力思，而是找回人的尊嚴與勇氣！
這是一部會讓人流下眼淚的記錄片！

環境生態

營造桃花源

921 震後社區再起力量在地扎根工程的深度探討

早在 921 地震之前，台灣就已經是個災區了。由於發展至上的原則，破壞了整個環境生態，加上政府的政策採取「重工業、輕農業」方針，擠壓農村來成就都市的發展，使得農村社區的發展問題排山倒海而來，這一系列的問題，其實是可以藉由「社區營造計畫」進行在地化的扎根工程。本節目中，藉由學者專家與社區居民的互動討論，叫喚出整個社區的共同記憶，並藉由「共同」參與，將社區總體營造的概念，由下而上的延伸出
